SUMMER COURSE IN AGRI-FOOD SECTOR

Artificial Intelligence Applications for Advancing the Agri-Food Industry

Climate change poses significant challenges to the agri-food industry, especially in tropical regions. To ensure sustainability, integrating adaptive technologies like artificial intelligence (AI) is crucial. AI enhances productivity, optimizes food processing and strengthens supply chains while minimizing environmental impact.

The 7th Summer Course explores AI-driven solutions across the agri-food sector, from precision farming to smart food systems, equipping participants with the tools to drive sustainability and innovation in response to climate change.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this Summer Course, participants will understand AI applications in the agri-food industry, including in optimizing productivity, food processing, and supply chains. They will be able to analyze industry challenges, explore AI-driven solutions for precision farming and smart food systems, and develop data-driven strategies to enhance sustainability and food security. This course supports SDG 2, 3, 4, 9, 12, 13, 15, 17
